Your Leadership Centre of Excellence

Being an IMI Corporate Member means your people have access to world-class leadership development all year round. IMI Corporate Membership is available at two levels: Inform and Transform. Each level gives you a flexible pathway to provide people in your organisation with learning and development opportunities throughout the year.

This year, our suite of events will comprise of three distinct formats:

Delivered via our IMI Live platform, these events give you the flexibility to access ground-breaking thought leadership from wherever you may be.

As we return to campus, you will have the opportunity to meet your peers and reap the benefits of interacting with our globally renowned thought leaders in person.

Link up with colleagues for our panel of international speakers who will be broadcasting live to the IMI campus, with a facilitator on hand to assist you on the day.

2022 Themes

Leadership doesn't stand still. This year, IMI Corporate Membership will give you the insights into what it takes to lead tomorrow.

The 2022 membership proposition will focus on 3 key themes based on IMI research into the future of work and the trends most impacting leaders and organisations, today and tomorrow. Our calendar of events has been built around these themes and insights from our members, clients and faculty. Each event explores an aspect of a key theme in depth and allows our membership community to build on their learning and development as the year progresses.

Accelerating Digital Transformation

In the last number of years, companies have had to transform like never before, with many organisations laser-focused on accelerating their digital plans.

From lessons in digital transformation to creating digitally-ready cultures, our leading experts will examine how you can capitalise on your digital transformation journey in a consistent, cohesive, and integrated way.

Creating the Human-Centric Organisation

With advanced technologies continuing to grow in importance in many organisations, uniquely human-centric capabilities and skills are coming under increased attention for the value they bring in unlocking personal and organisational performance.

Our panel of thought leaders will explore how organisations can become humancentric through their design, mindset, culture, and practices so that they can adopt a people-centered core to maximise value throughout their business.

Building Strategic Resilience

Organisations today need to be resilient, with the ability to react and respond to disruption with agility. We will dive into key strategies of how leaders can create strategic resilience through their people and for the organisation.

We will also consider how leaders themselves can develop their own resilience, as well as cultivating resilience in their teams so that the business can perform at its best.

IMI/30% Club Network Mentor Programme

The IMI/30% Club Network Mentor Programme offers organisations across Ireland the opportunity to participate in a unique cross-company, all-Ireland initiative designed to deliver an exceptional mentoring experience to your high potential talent mentees and your senior executive mentors. Mentoring is a critical leadership development opportunity and a key element of any human capital strategy designed to attract, retain, develop and maximise an organisation's key talent capability.

You identify two senior executives interested in mentoring alongside two high-potential mentees to join one of the country's most successful mentor programmes. By allowing your people to step outside their own box and find new angles to their thinking, you will experience the positive ripple effects throughout your organisation.
