Speakers’ biographies are attached.

Mike Claffey

Mike is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries in Ireland. He has served on the Society's Council and is currently a member of the Life Committee and an elected member of the Disciplinary Panel.

Mike is a Principal with the Dublin office of Milliman since 2005, having previously worked in a range of domestic and international life assurance companies. He currently discharges the role of Appointed Actuary and Life Reinsurance Signing Actuary for a range of companies headquartered in Ireland.

Gerry Carroll

Gerry is a litigation specialist with WhitneyMoore Solicitors and has handled some of the largest and most complex cases to come before the Irish courts. He also has extensive experience of international litigation practice involving European and US Courts. He has considerable experience of insurance, product liability, automotive, intellectual property and aviation disputes and litigation.

He has a particular interest in acting in the area of professional disciplinary investigations and hearings. For over 20 years he has advised the Complaints Committee (formerly the Investigation Committee) of the Chartered Accountants Regulatory Board (Institute of Chartered Accountants) and has advised a number of Special Investigators in high profile investigations. He regularly appears on behalf of the Complaints Committee as a prosecutor in hearings involving Members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants before its Disciplinary and Appeal Tribunals. Gerry is also a member of the Law Society's Regulation of Practise Committee which is responsible for financial oversight of solicitors in practise.

Gerry has over 32 years' experience. He became partner at WhitneyMoore Solicitors in 1989 and was head of the firm's litigation department from 1995 to 2002. Gerry was Managing Partner of the firm from 2003 to 2009. He is a member of the IBA, DRI Europe and the Lawyers' Pilots' Bar Association.

Chand Kohli

Chand Kohli is a retired partner from PwC where he led the financial services practice in Ireland. During his time with PwC Chand specialised in advising companies in the banking and insurance sectors. He has over 25 years' experience and has an in-depth knowledge of financial reporting, regulatory and other market issues relating to the financial services industry in Ireland. He has also spoken widely to key industry forums, including the Irish Bankers Federation, the Irish Insurance Institute, the Irish Insurance Federation and the Society of Actuaries in Ireland.

Chand is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales and an honorary Fellow of the Society of Actuaries in Ireland. He is also a member of the Professional Affairs Committee of the Society of Actuaries in Ireland.

He worked with PwC in London and PwC in Los Angeles prior to joining PwC Ireland in 1987.
