

SOCIETY OF ACTUARIES IN IRELAND

NEWSLETTER - MARCH 1989

1. SEMINAR

The Society seminar "Towards 1992 - The Opportunities And Challenges For Life Assurers" was held in the Berkeley Court Hotel on 8th February. 70 attended, among whom were five from the UK and 21 other non-members. The Seminar was opened by the Minister for Trade and Marketing, Seamus Brennan and the speakers were Aidan Cassells, John Edmondson and Icki Iqbal. The text of their talks and of the Minister's opening speech will be sent to all who attended.

2. SSAP 24

Jim Murphy's Pensions Sub-Committee are in contact with the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland and copies of the Working Protocol between Auditors and Actuaries received from them are available to interested members. Anybody with queries about SSAP 24 which they feel should be raised with the I.C.A. should pass them (in writing) to Jim or Gerry O'Carroll.

3. SUBJECT 1

Professor Boland of UCD will be running some short revision courses for students studying Subject 1 in March. Details will be circulated next week.

4. VISIT OF FACULTY PRESIDENT

Mr. William Morrison, the President of the Faculty of Actuaries, will be visiting the Society on 13th March. Mr. Morrison will give a short talk on current issues of concern to the Faculty, which will be hosted by Hibernian Life Association in Dawson Street, and this will be followed by dinner in the University Club, St. Stephen's Green. Please fill out the attached form if you will be attending.

5. NEXT MEETING

Colm Fagan will be presenting his paper entitled, I think, "Financial Aspects of a New Life Office" or something like that, and making his attempt on Brian Woods' all time Society attendance record.
